“Hi, I was a college student heavily involved with student government when Doris worked for the Dean of the College, Rick Beeman. She loved me and I adored her. While everyone referred to her as the Dragon Lady, she and I would head out to the balcony of College Hall so she could have a smoke break and I could vent for a few minutes. I know somewhere she and Rick are together again, and it makes me happy to know they once again have each other. She kept a picture of me on a camel in her cubicle which I thought was pretty funny, and I loved seeing her nearly every day since I was in the Dean's office a lot. She's a woman I'll never forget, and I love that she lived such a full and wonderful life (eventhough her smoking always worried me!). I hope her family knows that she was beloved by students -- this one, in particular. And I will always think of her with great fondness. May her memory be a blessing. -- Rachael G.
