“ I will miss you, granddaddy. Just about everything reminds me of you. And i have to constantly remind myself that you're not here. So many things drive me to think about you and how you won't be there, but none more so than my future. You won't be there to see me achieve my goals, like you said you would, like i'd hoped you would. I am terribly sad that i won't have the opportunity to prove myself to you in person. So i just ask that you watch over me, watch what i do. I hope i can make you proud.
