“ To the family, I remember Wilbert as a young husband and father in his twenties. I was in elementary school. His parents lived across the street. He moved his young family into the house beside us for a couple of years. He was just getting started with his wife and two cute little baby girls. He was playful with his kids and the neighborhood kids. He has always had a beautiful smile. He stood so tall. I always considered him a gentle giant, always polite and didn't mind helping you if you needed him. Over the years, it was sad to see his health decline. My condolences to the family. I know the love he had for you all kept him PUSHing. (Praying Until Something Happens). May God's promises give you peace in knowing he is free from any physical anguish.
